

I am dismayed over the broadcast services known as Low Power FM (LPFM) that are, unfortunately, already in service. These stations, many of which serve mainly other cultural listeners, are overly-abundant and interfere with clear reception of stations that are provided through FM translators. I am referring to stations such as K-Love, and stations broadcasting Family Life Radio, etc.. I heavily rely upon these stations (K-Love etc.) to provide family-friendly programming which supports and relates wholesome values. I believe that these stations serve a much needed and desired programming alternative to stations that are secular in nature and are often very offensive, not only in music but by the language of their DJ's and those they have on their programs.

K-Love provides a safe environment for my granddaughters who spend a great deal of time with me. Their listening to K-Love has a positive and encouraging impact on them whether at my home, their home or in the car. Their moral values are reinforced by K-Love and they hear and sing along with the songs of K-Love from the time they are able to speak. I believe that stations like K-Love provide a calming, safe listening environment promoting kindness and compassion to all and is therefore in the best interest of the public and the lasting effect that this has upon the community.

It is my belief that the airways are already overcrowded with stations that cater to rock, country, jazz, alternative and talk programming. I believe that everyone should have a choice in the type of radio station they listen to. My choice is K-Love and their affiliates. Others are free to listen to whatever they choose. Please do not take away from me my right to choose a radio station that I know continually uplifts me and my family and makes us better members of our community and better citizens of the United States.
